TODAY'S BLUNDER CORRECTED
By W. F. Hogan,
Postmaster, City of Dixon

The word "City" should not be used as a part of the address on a letter or package. It does not take much longer to write out the name of the city, with the state, and it may save annoying delay. Letters which are sealed with a sponge and those upon which the stamps are dampened with a sponge frequently stick together, and if a letter addressed "City" sticks to a letter addressed to another city and should be misshapen to that other city, it is a matter of chance whether or not it will be delivered; and if it is delivered there is sure to be delay.

Traveling men sometimes fall into the habit of using the word "City" as a part of the address, forgetful of the fact that when the letter is mailed it will not be in the city in which they reside, and therefore delay, and perhaps non-delivery, is the result. The designation North, South, East, or West, before the name of the street should always be used, to avoid delay, when it is required as a part of the address.

BOARD'S ORDER APPLIED TO ALL STORES OF CITY

Extension of Decree to Business Houses Announced.

Mayor Mark D. Smith this morning stated emphatically that the Board of Health expects every merchant and every employee of merchants to comply with the orders of the Board requiring vaccination or the presentation of certificates of vaccination as a prerequisite of their being allowed to remain in their places of business.

The mayor, who is ex-officio President of the Board of Health, also directed the following open statement "To the Obstructionists":

It is regrettable that there is a necessity to make an order that must be unpleasant to all and the cause of outright rebellion on the part of others of our otherwise good citizens. However regrettable or unpleasant the duty of those upon whom this labor is imposed, proper and reasonable precautions must be taken to protect those who through ignorance or stubbornness, take the position that their own sweet will should govern their actions, disregarding the safety and rights of those who are willing to make some sacrifice to the common good, whenever an exigency arises.

I presume all inquiries and criticisms are backed by honest convictions. I have every reason to believe that many object because of utterly selfish motives and the critic, although honest otherwise, is not able to hide his or her selfishness, while making their criticism.

A little study of our state laws and some regard for the Golden Rule, as well as a wholesome respect for the laws of their state and nation would be a very desirable and worth-while occupation. To the one who suspects every official act as self-centered, a little time spent in close self-communion would be beneficial.

Ignorance and selfishness are not admirable qualities. It is indeed refreshing to have the hearty cooperation of those whose education and standing make them really fit to judge as to what is the right thing to do. The ignorance of those who suggest the propriety of voting on the question of vaccination should be condoned because of their inability to understand what is a proper question to be presented to the voters. Why not vote on slavery, why not vote on the 18th amendment to the Federal Constitution? Either would be as reasonable. The law of Illinois recognizes nothing as sufficient but external vaccination. Why do those who only go under the wire by a nose, not go under the Legislature for further recognition?

After all the blackened years of smallpox history and the absolute results of vaccination, is there any other reason than blind ignorance or utter selfishness on the part of anyone making a business of rebellion, obstacles and inciting rebellion. We are simply the instruments you have selected to do your work. We do not make health laws, we carry them out, as necessity demands, and there would be no necessity for orders were everyone unselfish and informed on the subject. If we were lax, then what criticism should we receive and justify?

(Signed) MARK D. SMITH, Mayor and Ex-officio President of the Board of Health.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN.

M'NICOL PROTESTS.

Did an epidemic exist in Dixon last year when the smallpox edict was issued? The facts are no epidemic did exist.

Do six or ten cases well in hand in a town of ten thousand constitute an epidemic? Conservative health authorities emphatically say no.

When one man from an adjoining town appointed through the influence of the American Medical Association can come to Dixon and without consulting either our business men, our school authorities or teachers practically decide that its citizens must resort to vaccination, or tie up the town. If that is the law. We are a bunch of jelly fishes to stand for it.

Kansas City last year spent a cold half million on vaccination alone and possibly many times that much for medical attention following as a result. No estimate could be made of the business loss. This was investigated since by an impartial business committee and they declare in their report that there was no warrant for such an edict when issued.

It is very evident that public sentiment decidedly opposes compulsion in adopting a cure that is worse than the disease itself.

(Signed) A. M. McNICOL, D. O.

Turkey Will Join League of Nations

Lausanne, Dec. 14.—(By the Associated Press)—Turkey will join the League of Nations as soon as peace is signed at Lausanne, Ismet Pasha announced today. Truck Ran Over Its Driver Tuesday Eve

Tuesday evening about 6 o'clock a Studebaker truck with an Iowa license ran away from its owner who got out to crank it and ran up the walk on Galena avenue from the Fashion Boot Shop past Geisenheimer's then off the walk and seemingly tried to gain entrance to the Ford Barber Shop, the only hindrance being the narrow stairway. The little son of the owner was in the car and bravely kept his seat, although voicing his protest at the turn of affairs and especially when the auto ran over daddy who got in the way trying to stop the car. Two or three merchants along Galena avenue ran out to give assistance and protect property, if possible and J. E. Reagan succeeded in gauging the running board of the runaway and after several attempts succeeded in shutting off the engine and relieved greatly the mind of the frightened youngster. The man was not injured.

OBITUARY.

MILDRED E. KOON

Mildred Elaine Unangst was born at Dixon, May 13, 1903 and died at the St. Francis Hospital in Freeport, Dec. 9, 1922. The funeral services were held at St. Paul's Lutheran church, in charge of Rev. L. W. Walter, pastor.

She spent most of her life in Dixon, attending the south side schools.

On Jan. 1, she was married to Benjamin A. Koon. To this union were born two children, Benjamin Wilson, aged 14 months, and Alice Joyce, aged 14 months. Besides her husband and children she leaves her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Unangst, one sister, Mrs. E. D. Rossiter, of Dixon; and one brother, R. C. Unangst, of Chicago.

Last September Mr. and Mrs. Koon moved to Freeport and resided at 906 S. Chicago avenue.

Blessed with a sunny, wholesome nature, Mildred Koon will be sadly missed by relatives and scores of friends.

Missionary Play at Lee Center Success

Lee Center—George Tompkins of Dallas, Tex., visited his sister, Mrs. A. L. Dunton, recently.

HERRIN DEFENDANTS IDENTIFIED TODAY BY WITNESSES IN COURT

made necessary a detour of about half a mile by persons journeying between the two cities. He said, however, that the road on which the obstruction was placed, was not the main highway between Marion and Herrin. The defense then called back Mr. Hoffman for cross examination to identify the signature on a letter. The state objected vigorously, but the court ruled that the witness might answer as a witness for the defense, although he had been called by the state. The witness said the signature was that of his son.

Identified Defendant.
Lawrence Beare, of Herrin, a livery man, told of seeing a crowd of about seventy "men, boys and girls" in Herrin the morning of the riot. He said they had six or seven men whom they were marching down the street. The witness said he had recognized one of the crowd, Joe Carnighi, one of the defendants, and that Carnighi had a gun. He said he had not known Carnighi at the time but the latter had been pointed out to him two days later.

After the objections of the defense had been overruled, the witness stood up and pointed Carnighi out.

Under a vigorous cross examination Beare said he could not describe the clothes Carnighi wore, whether he had a hat or whether he was smooth shaven when he saw him the day of the riot. He said that Carnighi had been pointed out to him by "strangers" and that he "had guessed" regarding the number of days between the time the defendant was pointed out to him and the time he had first seen him the day of the riots.

"Were you able to pick out Carnighi in the court room until your attention was directed to the defendants?" Attorney Kerr asked.

"No," answered the witness.

"But the man you identified among the defendants as Carnighi was the same you saw the day of the riot?" Delos Duty, state's attorney asked.

"Yes," the witness answered and was excused.

Another Described Gang.
Charles Gail, the next witness said that he was in a truck with Beare the morning of the riot and saw "six or seven men, some of them had hats and coats" being escorted through Herrin by a crowd of men and boys. He expressed the opinion that there were 200 or 300 persons in the crowd but said he could not identify any of them. He was excused without being cross examined.

R. P. Poole, a resident of Herrin, told of seeing a crowd composed of between two hundred and five hundred persons marching past his house the morning of the riot. He said the crowd had "six prisoners, bloody, dirty and clad only in their shirts and trousers."

"Did you recognize any members of the crowd?" he was asked.

"Yes," Mr. Poole answered, "I recognized Leva Mann and Percy Hall, both of them had pistols."

The defense objected to the introduction to the name of Hall, who is not a defendant in the present case, but was overruled. Mann is among the defendants on trial.

Mr. Poole then testified that he had seen the crowd drive its prisoners ahead of it in the direction of the Herrin City Cemetery.

Later, he testified, he heard the sound of distant firing.

Governors Meet to Discuss Problems

By Associated Press Leased Wire
White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., Dec. 14.—Numerous questions of national and state importance were discussed today in addresses by state executives here for the annual conference of governors. Activities of the Ku Klux Klan formed one question for discussion while Governor Parker of Louisiana had announced he intended to inject the question of prohibition enforcement.

Questions of taxation and highway construction were also to come up during the three day conference.

Granting additional credit by the United States to foreign countries having stable forms of government, with certain restrictions, was recommended today by Governor Sam R. McKelvie, of Nebraska, before the conference, as a means of increasing the demand for American agricultural products, thereby strengthening the farming industry.

Governor McKelvie said he did not favor cancellation of foreign debts by the United States nor did he believe it would be wise for this country to make further loans without power to restrict the use of such grants of credit.

Additional Arrests in Camp Grant Fraud Are Expected Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Rockford, Ill., Dec. 14.—Additional arrests were imminent, it was indicated this morning in the federal investigation of the alleged million dollar theft of government property at Camp Grant. Federal agents who spent the greater part of the night questioning men summoned to the sheriff's office, renewed their activities early today.

Three men arrested last night are to be taken to Freeport before noon for arraignment before U. S. Commissioner Stanley M. Vance. They are Thomas Antonis, M. H. Rotstein and Jacob Rubin.

Ten Reported Hurt in Wreck at Alton

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Alton, Ill., Dec. 14.—Ten persons were reported hurt, one seriously, when the "Red Train" (Chicago & Alton) was derailed near the plant of the Illinois Glass Company here today. The injured were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital here.

Conservatism in Surgery is Near

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Chicago, Dec. 14.—An era of conservatism in surgical practice is dawning, Dr. A. W. Adson, brain specialist of Rochester, Minn., told the Chicago Medical society last night as he scored surgeons who "operate for the sake of operating."

The recently developed science of ventriculography, Dr. Adson said, is partly responsible for this new era, it is an aid to physicians in diagnosis and location of brain tumors.

Dr. Adson charged that specialists in cerebral surgery oftentimes were careless because their patients in the majority of instances succumb regardless of an operation.

TRUE LOVE—
Let me not to the marriage of true minds Admit impediments. Love is not love
Which alters when it alteration finds,
Or bends with the remover to remove:
O no! it is an ever fixed mark
That looks on tempests, and is never shaken;
It is the star to every wandering bark,
Whose worth's unknown, altho his height be taken.

Love's not Time's fool, though rosy lips and cheeks
Within his bending sickle's compass come;
Love alters not with his brief hours and weeks,
But bears it out ev'n to the edge of doom:—
If this be error, and upon me proved,
I never writ, nor no man ever loved.
—W. Shakespeare.

GRACE U. E. MISSIONARY MEETING—

The evening meeting of the W. M. S. of the Grace U. E. church held at the beautiful new home of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Hey on Chamberlain street on Monday evening, proved a very delightful meeting, with over fifty members and friends in attendance. The hostesses, also the committee in charge, composed of Misses Rilla Webster and Lona Beckingham, and Mrs. Gertrude Nelson and Mrs. Hey, had arranged an excellent program.

Master Dean Hey gave the first number, a piano selection, in a pleasing childish manner, which all enjoyed.

Rev. Unanget then read the Scripture lesson, Mark 9:38-42, and spoke on the Danger of Hindering God's Little Ones and offered prayer.

Ethelyn and Mildred Schrock gave a pretty piano duet much enjoyed by everyone.

This being an evening meeting, the society was pleased to have a goodly number of men present, and they shared the honors on the program.

O. E. Strock developed and presented the interesting topic, "The Trend of the Negro World," a continuation of the last month's lesson. He spoke of the natural capacity of the negro as evidenced through his achievements in the struggles of the past sixty years.

The practical test of human capacity, physical, mental and spiritual, is the struggle of life. He brought before the society the characteristics of the negro, their feelings, attitudes and habits, that have resulted in definite contributions to science, arts and to community life; and also that of religious fervor and faith. The faith of the slave gave him forbearance to endure.

In spite of the adverse conditions by which they have been handicapped since the war, the soul of the negro still vibrates with its pristine fervor of fellow feeling, with its music and its poetry, its loud outbursts of religious ecstasy; and with its free flow of unsolicited service, a devotion which love alone lavishes and which money cannot buy.

A quartet of ladies—Miss Mildred Schrock, Miss Vivian Graves, Mrs. George Huyett, and Mrs. H. M. Hey, sang two beautiful numbers, pleasing all. George Beede also gave a vocal number, "O Praise His Name, He Lifted Me," which was much enjoyed. Mrs. Gertrude Nelson read the leaflet, "My Best Gift," which brought out a beautiful Christmas message.

Miss Rilla Webster also gave two short select readings, in her usual pleasing manner.

Some business was transacted, the committees reporting on different lines of work. Thirty subscriptions to the Tidings were taken; and the meeting closed by all repeating the Lord's Prayer. This was followed by a social session and the serving of dainty refreshments by the hostesses.

DANCE AT COLONY SUCCESS LAST EVENING—

Dr. and Mrs. Warren Murray entertained a few friends from Dixon at dinner last evening.

In the evening Dr. Murray and his wife and a few guests from Dixon, were present at the dance held for the benefit and pleasure of the patients able to attend. There were about two hundred in attendance at the dance and all greatly enjoyed the pleasant evening, music being supplied by an orchestra, the Girls Orchestra from Dixon, led by Miss Frances Busby.

This is but one of the pleasant evenings provided by the management for the entertainment of the patients.

At Christmas time there will be a tree and the distribution of gifts, everything being done to bring sunshine to those at the hospital and grounds. At New Year's a masque ball will be held.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR DIXON POST—

Officers elected for Dixon Post, No. 239, Dept. Illinois G. A. R. on Saturday evening, Dec. 9th, are as follows:
Post Commander—Hemp Bremer.
Senior Vice Commander—L. W. Mitchell.
Junior Vice Commander—Charles I. Will.

Surgeon—Abraham Gaul.
Chaplain—Joseph Shelhamer.
Officer of the Day—George L. Richardson.
Officer of the Guard—John T. Reed.

All the above named officers were re-elected to succeed themselves.

The Adjutant Quartermaster and Patriotic Instructor will be appointed by the Commander.

LITTLE BOY WAS SUPPLIED WITH WARM CLOTHING—

A few days ago The Telegraph asked the people of Dixon for warm clothing for a small boy. The want has been supplied and the little fellow has been perfectly clothed, Dixon people responding out of warm hearts and generous hands.

Then a little girl who has been suffering with earache, and who had been forced to wear a hat in lieu of a hood, has been fitted out with a warm cap or hood and she likes it so well that it is hard to separate girl and cap when she goes to bed.

Then a little boy too thinly clad in cotton garments for the piercing cold, was given a sweater, and the little chap wears the sweater morning, noon and night. It would seem that Dixon people are eager and willing to give, if they are directed where to give.

PERKINS-WICKEY—

The home of S. W. Brimblecom, of Weesung, Ill., was the scene of a very pretty home wedding Monday evening, Dec. 11th.

William Oliver Wickey of Hennepin avenue, Dixon, Ill., and Helen Jane Perkins of Weesung, Ill., were united in marriage at 8 o'clock Rev. L. W. Walter, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church, performed the ceremony. The bride was beautifully gowned in a blue panne velvet gown and carried white roses. She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Lela Snow of Kewanee, Ill., as matron of honor. She wore a gown of blue crepe and carried pink roses. Henry Brimblecom was best man.

The home was beautifully decorated in pink and white. Flowers in these delicate shades and ferns were artistically combined. Refreshments were served by the bride's mother to fifty relatives and friends and out-of-town guests.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Willard of Kewanee; Mr. and Mrs. James Wickey of Princeton; Mrs. Elmer S. Perkins and daughter, Clara Jane, Chicago; Mrs. G. E. Peacock and daughter, Rojean Thelma, of Winnebago, Ill.

Their many friends join in wishing Mr. and Mrs. William Wickey happiness. Both attended the Dixon attended the Dixon High school.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED—

Matters of religion or creed always are ticklish subjects for conversation except among persons whose beliefs are well known one to another. Sensibilities often are very easily wounded on such topics. Therefore they should be avoided if the slightest uncertainty exists.

THE WOMAN'S MISSIONARY SOCIETY CHRISTIAN CHURCH—

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Christian church met at the home of Mrs. Charles Mumma on North Galena avenue Tuesday afternoon. There was a large attendance of members and several guests.

The subject of the program was Latin America. Mrs. Hall read a paper on "Studies in Latin America," and Mrs. George Nettz told of "Vitalizing Life in Latin America."

After the program everyone was interested in examining a leaf from a Buddhist Bible which had been sent to Rev. Cleaver from Ceylon by a friend who is visiting that island.

During the social hour, tempting refreshments were served by the hostesses.

LIGHT BRIGADE TO MEET FRIDAY AFTERNOON—

The members of the Light Brigade of St. Paul's Lutheran church will meet Friday afternoon at the church at 4 o'clock.

WERE DELIGHTFULLY ENTERTAINED YESTERDAY—

Mrs. J. M. McCleary, Mrs. Wilbur Hart and Mrs. L. R. Evans entertained yesterday afternoon at the McCleary home on North Galena avenue, at cards, and also entertained this afternoon. Mrs. C. B. Fowler and Mrs. L. D. Dement were awarded the prizes.

An exceptionally pleasant afternoon was enjoyed. Dainty refreshments were served.

MARRIAGE A LA MODE—

On her marriage eve, a Persian girl's maids hold over her head a copy of the Koran for luck, and a mirror to double the length of her life.

She kisses the hearthstone on leaving home, and carries with her, again for luck, bread, salt and a piece of gold.

The slaves who form part of her dowry accompany her to the bridegroom's home, where the wedding guests are waiting.

DIXON WOMAN'S CLUB TO MEET—

The Dixon Woman's club will hold its regular meeting Saturday, Dec. 16, at 2:30 at St. Paul's Lutheran church.

Mrs. Douglas Harvey is on the program and her subject is "A Scenic Trip Through Europe." This will be a very fine program and a large attendance is desired.

MRS. HAZELWOOD HAS MOVED TO 212 COLLEGE AVENUE—

Mrs. Hazelwood has moved from First street to 212 College avenue. Mrs. Hazelwood is greatly in need of work, such as darning and mending, and does this work very neatly. She would like her patrons to know that her residence is now 212 College avenue.

SOCIAL HAS BEEN POSTPONED—

Because of the prevalent illness the social of Mrs. Fordham's Sunday school class, to have been held at her home Saturday evening, has been indefinitely postponed.

GRACE EVANGELICAL CHORUS TO MEET—

The choir of the Grace Evangelical church will hold a very important meeting at 7:30 o'clock Friday evening at the church.

Thousands in Last Tribute to Merchant

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 14—Thousands of persons paid homage today at the bier of John Wanamaker, whose body lay in state from 9 o'clock until noon in Bethany Presbyterian church, where the famous merchant had worshipped since boyhood and where he was a familiar figure in the Sunday school and other religious work. A long line of persons along the streets adjacent to the church awaited turns to pay their last respects.

Many persons including high representatives of the official life of the nation, were here to officiate as pallbearers at the funeral services this afternoon.

BEAUTIFUL LINE OF GREETING CARDS—

THEY SAY "NO"

By an overwhelming majority, the voters of Illinois say "No, we do not want to adopt the proposed new constitution."

And we believe the reason the measure was defeated was lack of understanding. Most of the people who voted against it will tell you that they were not sure whether the proposed constitution was good or not and they would not vote a new law into being without knowing that it was good. One reason was lack of time to be informed. Another was the great volume and the many angles of the draft.

We do not believe it is possible for a state convention to adopt a draft that is any better, because of the sectional and selfish interests that are bound to be represented.

Both sides of the recent friendly controversy admit that there was good and bad in the proposed constitution. It would seem that if Illinois is to gain the good and avoid the bad in constitutional changes the people must be offered amendments to the constitution, one at a time, and let each amendment stand or fall by its own merit and not carry the burden of less popular changes.

STICKING TO HIS LAST

Asked whether he finds "that soviet Russia is on the way to economic and industrial normalization," Feodor Challapin, Russian basso, is said to have made a deprecatory gesture and said: "Of that I know nothing. I sing."

He then gave his faith in Russian recovery on broad, artistic lines, carefully warning his hearers that his opinion did not amount to anything, and concluding with the remark that each man should stick to his business: Politics for the politicians, music for the musicians, etc.

It is always refreshing to discover a man who confesses he knows nothing much about Russia; it is an essential charm when the admission comes from a Russian; for there is a wide superstition that every Russian is passionately and morbidly attached to one form or another of the rival governmental ideas in his unhappy land.

With that grand nonchalance found only in artistic minds, he, Challapin, says "Russia is young," intimating that wild oats must be sown that in time the wild young country will settle down and give the world her message.

Not so frivolous as it sounds, when you examine it. From the point of view of civilization Russia is a painfully backward child, but still a child who has been rather sadly abused by nurses and guardians, to say nothing of policemen and soldiers and politicians. Yet Challapin is right also in his position that a singer, who knows he possesses no political acumen, should keep aloof from the business of government, just as a statesman, with no ear for music, most certainly should not sing.

HARD TIMES

If we can find it, there's some way to stabilize industrial conditions and make times reasonably prosperous continuously instead of being hard times and prosperity follow each other like the spokes of a revolving wheel.

When it comes to money making,
there's either a feast or a famine,
and seems to be no halfway point.

It's a cruel world of things,
and a crueler world of people.

It's a cruel world of things,
and a crueler world of people.

It's a cruel world of things,
and a crueler world of people.

It's a cruel world of things,
and a crueler world of people.

It's a cruel world of things,
and a crueler world of people.

our basic problem of economics. From it, sprout nearly all the other serious problems.

A favorite chant of the business experts is that business runs in cycles —up and down, like waves. Prices rise to a certain high point, then topple and slump far below normal, then up, again down, and soon, generation after generation.

Business failures, industrial activity and all other branches of our common system of "earning a living" rise and fall in similar cycles or waves.

The economists point out that all this is following a natural law of cycles—that depression follows prosperity the same as winter follows summer.

The industrial system, however,
which we have permitted to en-slave us, is not a natural system, speaking in a broad sense. It is a system entirely created by man. And, therefore, it should be entirely responsive to man, absolutely under his control.

Certain natural elements creep in,
such as crop failures or abnormally large crops. But these could be taken care of some way. Certainly they should not disrupt our whole economic machinery.

Panics often are blamed on over-production. But over-production, in the last analysis, is an impossibility.
The real trouble is that our system of distribution breaks down.

Maybe the permanent elimination of hard times would require gigantic undertakings by the national and state governments. That is, giving the armies of unemployed work at road-making, irrigation and other engineering projects.

Or the solution may be in stabilizing the value of the dollar. Again, it might be in periodical price regulation.

Think it over. Have you a plan?
Think this over, also: We have become so accustomed to hard times as a reaction from prosperity, that maybe we have hypnotized ourselves into expecting them. And, by expecting, we create depression—by hunting our cyclical cellars before a real funnel-cloud rises over the horizon.

TO TALK ABOUT

Today's most prophetic news comes from the electrical wizard, Steinmetz.
He predicts that our descendants will have "canned sunlight."

Food and power will be the great est problems of the future says Steinmetz. He fears the day is coming when the earth will be so thickly peopled that there will not be enough food for all.

This is the old doctrine of Malthus.
His opponents claim that plagues and wars keep weeding us out, to prevent over-population. A greater force, in preventing mouths-to-be-fed from overtaking and passing available food-supply is man's inventiveness. For instance, a scientist about three years ago perfected a hardier wheat that moved the bread belt 100 miles farther north.

And, predicts Steinmetz, future men will discover a way to bottle up sunshine, just as plants do. Then this imprisoned power will be transferred to grow food in barren districts, also to serve as fuel when the earth's coal supply becomes exhausted.

Future people may call up the store and order: "Send me two barrels of sunshine. The last batch had too much cloud in it."

Today's leading scientific news comes from Dr. Harlow Shapley, head astronomer at Harvard Observatory. He says it's doubtful if climatic conditions on Mars are able to support life.

But Venus, says Shapley, is a lot like the earth, in climate, so "life on Venus is highly probable."

Will a radio reach us from Venus before we get in touch with people on Mars, if any?

Henry Ford is too busy with problems here on earth to be much interested in theories about life on other planets. He will meditate Steinmetz's suggestion of storing the energy of sunlight and using it where and when needed. Probably Ford will wonder if the flier some time will run on sunlight instead of gasoline.

Not to be outdone, Ford contributes this to today's news and food for thought: "A young man with no money, who wants to get married, should get married anyway. Men should marry early in life, regardless of their financial resources. I didn't have any money when I got married."

The senior Rockefeller wasn't much better off when he and his bride stood up before the preacher.

Of the three thoughts furnished by Steinmetz, Shapley and Ford, Ford's is the most important. Men succeed in proportion as they have something to work for. A wife and children spur men on, develop their earning powers.
Marriage is the right person in any man's best investment.

BRINGING UP FATHER

COLE

Emile Cole will arrive in our country Jan. 10, for a visit of two weeks.
He will make speeches in New York, Washington and Cleveland. Cole is the French auto-suggestionist who preaches that many who "enjoy poor health" can cure themselves by repeating his formula, "Every day, in every way, I get better and better."

Europe's favorite indoor sport is "panning the tar" out of us. But as soon as a European gets a good "act," he buys a ticket for America. The U.
S. A. seems to be an international magnet. Be glad you're here.

FAILED

Maybe you had hard luck during November. But you can be glad you weren't among the men who went into bankruptcy or receiver's hand.
Commercial failures in November, the country over, totaled 1758. That was more than in any November ever, except a year ago when the Grim Reaper removed the heads of 1979 businesses.

The weeding-out process is still continuing on a big scale. It's all for the best, or it wouldn't happen. Providence never makes mistakes on a big scale. Too many in business.

PRICES

Wholesale prices in November advanced nearly two per cent. That's the average. Meat dropped one per cent, metals three.

Meantime housewives noticed that the weekly allowance shrank, in purchasing power, more than two per cent. The nation again is headed toward the point where prices will be prohibitive—so high that people will be unable to buy. Unless this trend is checked, another business slump is inevitable. The goose has only so many feathers to be plucked.

Arthur Burch is held for inquiry into his sanity. How would it be to have similar inquiries in the cases of the thirty-six jurors who composed the three juries out in California whose findings finally turned Arthur and Madelyn loose as likely candidates for fame in Hollywood?

England regards the Russian proposal of freedom to use the Dardanelles for everything but warships just about as the sailor regarded shore leave when told he could have it if he wouldn't get drunk: "If I can't get drunk, sir, what's the use of going ashore, sir?"

We're paying quite a subsidy to the mail-carrying business in this country. The postoffice department's deficit for the last fiscal year, ended
June 30, was almost $81,000,000.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Wherefore have ye not fulfilled your task?—Exodus 3:14.

To shape the whole future is not our problem; but only to shape faithfully a small part of it, according to rules already known. It is perhaps possible for each of us, who will with due earnestness enquire, to ascertain clearly what he, for his own part, ought to do; this let him, with true heart, do, and continue doing.—Thomas Carlyle.

Make This a Brunswick Christmas

An ideal addition to the Christmas festivities is a Brunswick, for it brings to each member of the household his favorite music in the intimate atmosphere of the home.

And note, too, that there is no reason,
when buying a phonograph, to be satisfied with anything short of a Brunswick —for prices and terms on Brunswick are the same as those of other instruments.

Exclusive Features

Brunswick plays all makes of records without attachments. This means that with a Brunswick in your home you can enjoy all the great artists regardless of the make of records for which they record.

This is accomplished by the Ultona—a part of The Brunswick—not an "attachment."
Another exclusive Brunswick feature is the Oval Tone Amplifier or horn, made entirely of wood and moulded like a fine old violin. It is responsible for much of the wondrously beautiful Brunswick tone.

EATS

By Berton Braley

When I go out, at times, to dine,
With somewhat jaded appetite,
For hearty grub I do not pine,
I ask for viands airy, slight.

Then eat, perhaps a little bite
For more than that I do not care
But when my stomach's working right,
Bring me a Steak—and make it rare!

Truffles will cause my eyes to shine
Souffles are pleasant to the sight
Salads of intricate design Will make my eyes extremely bright;

But when I'm really hungry, quite
As famished as the well-known bear
I cry out to the waiter, "Wight"
Bring me a Steak—and make it
rare!"

When I have fished with hook and line,
Or hunted deer, or ducks in flight
Fish, flesh, or fowl—I like them fun
And eat them with a true delight.
Yet when I get back home, despite
The fact that game is lordly fare,
I shout aloud with all my might
"Bring me a Steak—and make it
rare!"

Were I to banquet day and night
On real Ambrosia, I declare I'd yell down from Olympus' height
"Bring me a Steak—and make it
rare!"

THE ONE-MAN WOMAN--2.

KATE, HOMEBOUND, REVIEWS HAPPY DAYS OF YOUTH

By Ruth Agnes Abeling.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

DAN WARD has just died, leaving a widow.

KATE. She, her mind filled with thoughts of the ideal happiness of their married life, starts for her parents' home in a small inland city.

GO ON WITH THE STORY.

There, in the gloom of her berth, with the train speeding past small villages and stretches of open country, Kate Ward went over that one day which stood out beyond all others.

She remembered every nuance of her mother's voice as the words came from the doorway—"What, you back?"

Whispering she repeated them.

She hadn't been much past 18, then, a developed little thing for that age with almost too much of the woman about her. There was too much of an air of knowing, something tragic in the droop of her shoulders.

All through the years that followed when she saw girls so young with that air of knowing and that pitiful droop, she wanted to run after them and take them home somewhere to a mother who wouldn't say:

"What—you back?"

Kate had brushed past her mother that day and had gone to the little room under the eaves. There, among the things she had known in those glad days before she had measured her strength against a city, she cried.

Perhaps, if her mother had gone then to the room under the eaves, everything in Kate Ward's life would have been different. But her mother had come to put up the kitchen to sweep and neighbors to gossip with.

So 18-year-old Kate flung down on the blue and white patchwork quilt, cried it out alone. Cried it out until her heart was void of tears and couldn't even ache any more.

Kate Ward never cried after that day—not once during all of the perilous months which followed.

Finally she washed away the traces of tears, followed the washing with dabs of pink, and sat down quietly to wait.

She wouldn't go downstairs. She'd just wait until dusk.

As the supper hour neared she heard her father's voice then listened as his heavy boots clumped over the kitchen floor. He wasn't coming up. But then, the door of her room was closed and she wouldn't have opened it anyway. She wondered for a second what she would have done if he had come up and opened the door. She decided she would have slipped under the bed. Just there her heart almost softened.

There were tears on the verge of being. She fought with herself. And came out winner, if a little hardened.

She had never got along very well with her mother. And perhaps she shouldn't have gone to the city. Then there were the tales that drifted back. Part of them, true, too.

But weren't mothers and homes supposed to be things you could always count on? The other girls said that was true. And she had started back from the city with such a vow to be good forever and forever!

But—"What—you back?"—She hardened under the lash of it and she hated!

It was dark when 18-year-old Katie dropped the little traveling bag out of the window. In a few minutes she swung from the sill and dropped the short distance to the soft earth below.

Off down the shadowy path she went.

Kate was once more on the open road.

Central Illinois Utilities to Buy

Chicago, Dec. 13.—Hearing on the purchase of the properties of the Abbott Light & Power Co., approximating 35 miles of high tension lines radiating from Petersburg, Ill., by the Central Illinois Public Service Co., was held before the Illinois Commerce Commission here today.

The Public Service Co. proposes to add the lines of the company to its other properties in that section of the state joining it with lines at Springfield and Virginia.

Marshall E. Sampson, president of the Public Service Co., stated the purchase price agreed upon was $400,000. Ira Abbott represented the Abbott Co. in the hearing. Decision of the Commission is expected within two weeks.

The Abbott Co. serves Petersburg, Mason City, New Holland and several cities in that vicinity.

SMOCKS FOR GIFTS.

Despite the fact that smocks make the very best sort of apron for almost every conceivable occasion it is still difficult to get them in the shops. Made from gay Japanese print with white pique collar and raglan sleeves that button well about the wrist a smock will make an appreciated gift for the business girl who likes to cook dinner in her own little apartment.

CHRISTMAS WRAPPING.

A "poinsettia" bag of red crepe paper will make an effective holiday wrapping for the fruit cake, the candy box or the other gift which, because of its roundness, is difficult to tie.

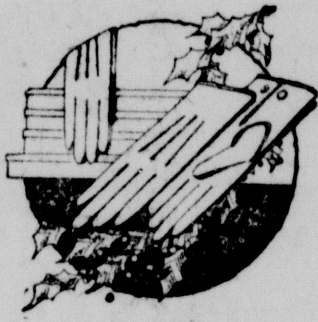

Fruits make a pleasing dessert in many forms. We carry choice fruits for your selection. Sinclair's Power Ave. Fruit Store. 12 14 16

Acute Indigestion For Over Two Years

"For over two years I suffered from acute indigestion," says Arthur L. Reeves, secretary of the Austinburg Fuel & Light Company, Ohio. "Frequently calling in a physician but getting only temporary relief. Acting on the advice of a friend I took Dr. Orth's Stomach Remedy regularly until the first package was used up. I then purchased another package of which I have taken only an occasional dose for a year or so, fabled condition of acid stomach or heartburn. For seven months now I have been entirely free from any attack of acute indigestion and can eat anything I want with no fear of bad results. In case of acid stomach which is sometimes quite annoying, one dose will be found worth the price of the package. If the above statement of facts will help to call the attention of other sufferers to the merits of Dr. Orth's Stomach Remedy I shall be glad to have you use it." Signed, Arthur L. Reeves.

They all say the same. For 75 cents you can get a large box of Dr. Orth's Stomach Remedy, a great physician's greatest stomach prescription. At Sterling's Pharmacy and all good druggists. THE ORTH LABORATORY CO., East Liverpool, Ohio.

PART ONE The Awakening CHAPTER I Groping in the Dark

THE convict gang had a pleasant place to work today. Their road building had taken them some miles from the scattered outskirts of Walla Walla, among fields green with growing barley.

The convicts themselves were in a genial mood, easily moved to wide grins; and with a single exception they looked much like any other road gang. Curiously enough, whenever the warden's thought dwelt upon the inmates of his prison, there was always one wind-tanned, vivid face, one brawny, towering form that seemed to demand individual consideration. The man who was listed on the records as Ben Kinney was distinctly an individual.

"That's the queerest case we ever had here at Walla Walla," Sprigley told his fellow guard, as they watched the man's pick swing in the air. "Sometimes I wonder whether he ought to be here or not. Look at that face—he hasn't any more of a criminal face than I have."

The other guard, Howard, scanned his companion's face with mock care. "Now let me tell you how they happened to catch him. Maybe you heard—he and Dago Frank were in the act of breaking into the Western Danish Bank. They were in the alley, in the act of jimmying a window, and all at once Kinney straightened up as if something had hit him and let the jimmy fall with a thump to the pavement. He put his hands to his head, like a man with a headache. And the next instant a cop came running from the mouth of the alley."

"Kinney was healed, but he didn't even pull his gun. Now let me tell you another queer thing. You know, the chief has started a system here to keep track of all the prisoners. He has them all fill out a card. Well, when this man Kinney turned in his card, he had written 'Ben' on it, but the rest was absolutely blank."

"Mr. Mitchell thought at first that the man couldn't write. It turned out, though, that he can write—an intelligent hand, and spell good too. Then Mitchell decided he was just talking, but I'm confident I know the answer. The reason he didn't fill out that card was because he couldn't remember."

"He couldn't remember where or when he was born, or who were his folks, or where he had come from, or how he had spent his life. Amnesia—that's what the doctors call it—amnesia following some sort of a mental trouble. In the end you'll see that I'm right."

There had been quite a northern migration lately, these late spring days. The last of the waterfowl had passed by now, but the northern migration was not yet done. Ben thought about them as birds of passage, and the thought amused him. And at the sight of a small, stooped figure advancing toward him up the railroad right-of-way he paused, leaning on his pick.

Because Ben had paused, for the first time in an hour, his two guards looked up to see what had attracted his attention. They saw what seemed to them a white-haired old wanderer of sixty years or more; but at first they were wholly at a loss to explain Ben's fascinated look of growing interest.

As he paused to scrutinize the convict gang neither insolence nor fear, one of which was certainly to be expected, became manifest in his face. Both guards were held and amazed by the apparent fact that at the first scrutiny of the man's outline, his carriage and his droll, wrinkled face, the prisoner Kinney was moved and stirred as if confronted by the risen dead.

The old man himself halted, returning Kinney's stare. Kinney's mind seemed to be reaching, groping for some astonishing truth that eluded him.

The old man ran, in great strides, toward him. "My God, aren't you Ben Darby?" he demanded.

The convict answered him as from a great distance, his voice cool and calm and with an infinite certainty. "Of course," he said. "Of course I'm Darby."

For the moment that chance meeting thrilled all the spectators with the sense of monumental drama. The convicts stared; Howard, the second guard, started absurdly, rather guiltily, when the old man whirled toward him.

"What are you doing with Ben Darby in a convict gang?" the old wanderer demanded.

"What am I doing?" Howard's astonishment gave way to righteous indignation. "I'm guarding convicts, that's what I'm doing."

THE OLD MAN RAN IN GREAT STRIDES TOWARD HIM.

The old man had turned his eyes again to the tall, trembling figure of Ben.

"Ben, Ben!" he said, evidently struggling with deep emotion. "What are you doing here?"

"Five years—for burglary," he answered simply. "Guiltily, too—I don't know anything more. And I can't remember—who you are."

"You don't know me?" Some of Ben's own bewilderment seemed to pass to him. "You know Ezra Melville?"

Sprigley stepped quickly to Melville's side. "He's suffering loss of memory," he explained swiftly. "This is the first time he ever recalled his own name."

Melville gazed at him in incredulous astonishment, then turned to Sprigley. "May I talk to you about this case?" he asked quietly. "If not to you, who can I talk to? There are a few points that might help to clear up—"

Many and important were the developments which arose from their conference. Melville's northward journey was postponed for some days, and within a week this pleading white-haired, lean old man was pleading his case to the governor of the State of Washington. It came about, from the same cause, that a noted alienist, Forest, of Seattle, visited Ben Darby in his cell; and finally that the prisoner himself was taken to the capital at Olympia.

The brief inquisition that followed, changing the entire current of Ben Darby's life, occurred in the private office of McNamara, the Governor.

Professor W. W. Skeat, in the recently published fourth edition of his dictionary, containing approximately 20,000 English words, recognizes only 12 as untraceable in origin.

The alienist Forest Seattle conducted the examination. "You don't remember this case?" Forest asked Ben quietly, looking at Ezra Melville.

Again Ben's eyes strayed to the droll, gray face. "With the vaguest kind of memory, I know I've seen him before—often. I can't tell anything else."

"He's a good friend of your family. I should say he was a very good friend, to take the trouble and time he has in your behalf."

Ben nodded. The explanation was beyond him.

Forest leaned forward. "You remember the Saskatchewan River?" Ben straightened, but the dim images in his mind were not clear enough for him to answer in the affirmative. "I'm afraid not."

Melville leaned forward in his chair. "Ask him if he remembers winning the canoe race at Lodge Pole—or the time he shot the Athabaska Rapids."

Ben turned brightly to him, but slowly shook his head. "I can't remember ever hearing of them before."

"I think you would, in time," Forest remarked. "They must have been interesting experiences. Now what do these mean to you?—Thunder Lake—Abner Darby—Edith Darby—MacLean's College?"

Abner Darby! It was curious what a flood of tenderness swept through Ben as, whispering, he repeated the name. Since his own was Darby, Abner Darby was, in all probability, his father; but his reasoning intelligence, rather than his memory, told him so.

The name of Edith Darby conjured up in his mind a childhood playmate—a girl with towzled yellow curls and chubby, confiding little hands. . . . But these dim memory pictures went no further; there were no later visions of Edith as a young woman, blossoming with virgin beauty. The third name of the three, MacLean's College, called up no memories whatever.

"They'll strengthen in time, I'm sure," Forest told him. "Put them out of your mind, for now. Let it be blank." The alienist again leaned toward him, his eyes searching. There ensued an instant's pause, possessing a certain quality of suspense. Then Forest spoke quickly, sharply. "Wolf Darby!"

In response a curious tremor passed over Ben's frame, giving in some degree the effect of a violent start. "Wolf Darby," he repeated hesitatingly. "Why do you call me that?"

"The very fact that you know the name refers to you, not someone else, shows that that blunted memory of yours has begun to function in some degree. Now think. What do you know about 'Wolf Darby'?"

Ben tried in vain to find an answer. A whole world of meaning lingered just beyond the reach of his groping mind; but always it eluded him. Forest suddenly spoke to old Ezra Melville; and the latter put a small, cardboard box into his hands.

"I want you to see what I have here," Forest told Ben. "They were your own possessions once—you sent them yourself to Abner Darby, your late father—and I want you to see if you remember them."

Evidently this was the climax in the examination; Forest opened the box, taking therefrom a roll of white cotton. This he slowly unrolled, revealing two small, ribboned ornaments of gold or bronze.

Ben's starting eyes fastened on them. No doubt he recognized them. "The Victoria Cross, of course," he said slowly, brokenly. "I won it, didn't I—the day—that day at Ypres—the day my men were trapped—"

His words faltered then. The wheels of his memory, starting into motion, were stilled once more. Again the great darkness dropped over him. Yet to Forest the experiment was an unqualified success. "There's no doubt of it!" he exclaimed. He turned to McNamara, the Governor. "His brain is just as sound as yours or mine. With the right environment, the right treatment, he'd be on the straight road to recovery."

ELDENA FAMILY TO MOVE TO DIXON ARE GIVEN BIG RECEPTION

Friends and Neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Hartman
Are Guests.

Eldena, Ill.—Mrs. Elsie Trumble was in Dixon one day last week taking music lessons. Mrs. Trumble is taking an advanced course in music, she being one of the best music teachers in her village.

Quite a number of Eldena folks were in Dixon Saturday afternoon. We presume they are doing Christmas shopping. We are delighted to note the fact that our village folks know where the best place is to get desirable Christmas gifts.

Monday evening, Dec. 4th, a very delightful surprise occurred in our village. Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Martin being the recipients. The occasion was in honor of the Martin's twenty-fifth anniversary. A very large number of our village folks and also the folks from the surrounding community were present until the house was taxed to its limit in accommodating the guests. A very bountiful lunch was served during the course of the evening, also a very handsome set of silverware was presented to the bride and groom.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's Home and Foreign Missionary Society of the Beulah Evangelical church of Eldena was held at the home of Mrs. Bert Shoemaker Thursday afternoon, Dec. 14.

Monday afternoon, Charles Litteral had a wood sawing bee at his home. Mr. Jaquet's saw outfit which is in almost constant demand these days was on the job. Mr. Jaquet was chief engineer and head sawyer; Mr. Litteral filled the important place of officiating; Mr. Kreger was assistant sawyer; Mike Shoemaker, chief attendant, while Mr. Howard, Ora Davis and another gentleman present were merely spectators.

Our Quarterly Conference occasioned over Saturday and Sunday is to be greatly appreciated for the spirit of wholesome fellowship throughout the entire session. At the business session held at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday afternoon, the accounts of the year's work up to date was very satisfactory. The board of stewards elected for the year are as follows: Eldena, L. W. Martin and Mrs. Bert Shoemaker; Emanuel, John Wadsworth and C. E. Roberts. I. H. Mossholder was elected as Lay Delegate to the Annual Conference to be held in Ashton in March. Rev. J. Hoerner was present and preached at both appointments, and also administered the Holy Communion.

There will be preaching service at both the Emanuel and Eldena churches Sunday, Dec. 17th. Emanuel, 11 a. m.; Eldena at 7:30 p. m.

A Christmas program will be given at the Emanuel Evangelical church on Friday evening, Dec. 22, 7:30 p. m. Also at the Eldena church Thursday evening, Dec. 21, at 7:30 p. m. The public is cordially invited.

Thursday evening, Dec. 7th, a farewell reception was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Hartman. The Hartman family are soon leaving the farm and moving into Dixon, and as they are held in high esteem by the community folks thus the occasion for the gathering. At 7:30 p. m. a large number of the folks met at the school house, one-half mile west of the Hartman home, and at a given signal from the captain of the host, all the cars were soon on the move. A long procession of cars plunging through the mud endeavoring to follow the extraordinary crooked track made by the car in the lead with flashing headlights all in blinding array. Our headlights, however, all us but little direct good as the plunging car was first facing the north, then the south or vainly endeavoring to search out the crooked track we were following. We advanced swiftly and recklessly upon the Hartman castle, disregarding all signs.

"Keep off the grass," bled the yard, the lawn in front of the house and every available space where a car could be parked. As fast as the cars were unloaded a procession was formed which began to enter the home and kept it up until the house was taxed almost to its limit. Seventy-five in all, surely not a bad response for the desperately bad night that it was. This was apparently a complete surprise and we were indebted to the wise forethought of some of the folks for bringing a number of chairs, thus making ample provision for just such an occasion by providing adequate seating facilities. The evening was spent in much pleasant conversational exchange between neighbors and friends, and on request, a reading was given which apparently was much appreciated, an encore following which consisted in repeating the splendid lines written by Glen Ward Dreshbach, a brief prayer of thanksgiving to the Heavenly Father for the bountiful blessings we were in possession of, a scramble supper following and then—well, after supper the Hartman family was called into the room and requested to be seated in some chairs properly arranged, then came the presentation of gifts. A handsome gold pencil was the gift to Mr. Wills, and an envelope containing a sum of money was the gift to Mr. and Mrs. Hartman. We regret very much to lose them from our community but we all join heartily in wishing them prosperity, success and happiness in their new home.

A. F. & A. M. SPECIAL.
A stated meeting of Friendship lodge, No. 7, A. F. & A. M., will be held at the Masonic hall this afternoon and evening, starting at 3 o'clock when degrees will be conferred.

Intermediates Win from Franklin Gr.

BY MURPHY.
The "Y" Intermediates opened their basket ball season by defeating the Franklin Grove High school team, 31 to 7 on the Dixon floor Wednesday evening. Although the score was not close, this gives no indication of the game, as from start to finish both teams displayed the old fighting spirit. There wasn't a dull minute during the entire contest but it was Franklin's tough luck in shooting that caused the big difference in score. The Intermediates played the floor well at times but were also off on basket shooting. Capt. Wickey had the best eye and assisted by the team work of the rest of the team tossed in nine ringers. Stultz and Sunday worked well for Franklin Grove.

Intermediates: Segner, rf; Wickey, lf; Bremer-Rosecrans, c; Rosecrans, g.

Weimann, rg; Chas. Kerz-Krug, lg. day, Weitzel, ETAETAETAETTET Franklin Grove; Mong, rf; Stultz, lf; Sunday, c; Weitzel, rg; Leger-Myers-Buck, lg.

Field Goals: Wickey, 9; Segner, 3; Stultz, 2; Weitzel, Bremer. Free Throws: Bremer, 3; Mong. Referee: H. Kerz. Scorer: Aschenbrenner. Timer: Long.

TO PLAY LEE CENTER.
The Intermediates will play a Lee Center team next Wednesday evening, the game to start at 7:30.

MEET FRANKLIN GROVE.
Next Tuesday a team of Intermediates who did not play in Wednesday's game will play the Franklin Grove team.

Says Labor Had Big Part in Defeating Proposed New Law

Marion, Dec. 13.—Frank Farrington, Illinois miners president, in a statement today declared organized labor had a large share in the defeat of the proposed new Illinois constitution. "Labor played a most important part in the victory," he said. "Everywhere throughout the state all of the forces of organized labor were out in opposition to the proposed constitution and to them belongs a large part of the victory."

WANTED—COPIES OF TELEGRAPH DEC. 5 AT THIS OFFICE.

Why Your Hogs Need Minerals

All feeding authorities agree that grain rations for hogs lack mineral elements which are absolutely necessary to grow the frame and make the gains that mean profit. Grobone is the best mineral feed on the market. It supplies just the elements that are lacking in your grain ration. Grobone is not a medicine or so-called "stock food." Every ingredient is of the highest quality and mixed in just the right proportions.

WHAT GROBONE DOES

- 1—Supplies the brood sow with the calcium and phosphorus necessary for the formation of the litter—the proper amounts of which mean bigger, stronger litters at farrowing time.
- 2—Increases the milk flow of the dam and makes her milk rich in bone and body building elements—this means an even litter and no runts.
- 3—Increases size and breaking strength of bone—no more cripples.
- 4—Shortens feeding period as it makes your grain feed more effective—this means less feed per hundred pounds of grain and your hogs to market earlier.
- 5—Strengthens pasterns and backs. No more bad footed, sway backed pigs with spread toes and knock-knees.
- 6—Makes bigger frames that will carry the weight—no breaking down behind.
- 7—Satisfies the craving which makes hogs root and eat their young—no pig eating or chicken eating sows rooting up the place on the farm where Grobone is fed.
- 8—Takes the hazard out of the hog business—adds to your profit.

WHAT GROBONE PREVENTS

- 1—Prevents spongy and brittle bones that mean crippled hogs. Your usual loss in cripples alone which Grobone eliminates will pay many times the cost of the feed.
- 2—Prevents paralysis and rickets which are caused from lack of minerals.
- 3—Prevents sows going down behind—a big source of loss in some herds.
- 4—Prevents diseases caused by poor condition—Grobone tones up the whole system and keeps your entire herd well.
- 5—Prevents sway backs, knock knees, weak pasterns—all can be eliminated by feeding Grobone—the greatest bone building feed.
- 6—Prevents hairless pigs—a condition brought about by lack of iodine in the ration. This lack is supplied by Grobone.
- 7—Prevents pigs coming dead or weak caused from lack of development while in dam. Grobone insures proper frame development before birth and maintains it in the growing pig.
- 8—Prevents goitre—a source of loss that can be entirely eliminated by feeding Grobone.

Admits Labor is Paying for Fight
on Attorney Gen.

By Associated Press Licensed Wire

Washington, Dec. 13.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, frankly told the house judiciary committee today that the executive committee of the federation had authorized the employment of counsel to assist Representative Keller, republican, Minnesota, on passing impeachment proceedings against Attorney General Daugherty.

Mr. Gompers' statement was made in cross-examination by Paul Howland, counsel for Mr. Daugherty. He denied he had first suggested the impeachment proceedings.

Mr. Gompers called at a prosecution witness told of his visit to Mr. Daugherty in July 1921 at which the appointment of W. J. Burns as chief of the bureau of investigation, department of justice, was discussed.

He said that he showed Mr. Daugherty a report made in 1905 by Attorney General Wichersham to President Taft, in drawing a jury in the Oregon land fraud cases in 1905. "I told Mr. Daugherty," Mr. Gompers testified, "that it would be a public scandal and bring discredit to the department if any such man was appointed to as important a position."

The witness affirmed Burns had been active in the prosecution of the McNamara cases. Mr. Gompers explained he had been interested in the defense of the McNamaras because he believed them innocent until they confessed.

He denied he had told President Harding that Mr. Daugherty ought not to be appointed Attorney General. George W. Wichersham, attorney General under President Taft, denied politics had entered into the pardoning of Willard N. Jones, convicted in the Oregon land fraud cases. Some committee members had suggested that the pardon was granted at the time of the Taft-Roosevelt political fight. The witness said his recommendation that Jones be pardoned was based on official reports alleging improper activities by Mr. Burns in drawing the trial jury.

Kidney and Bladder Troubles Conquered or Money Back

For 40 years, said Dr. Carey, I have been prescribing my prescription No. 777 (known for years as Marshroot) for kidney and bladder sickness and now that I have retired from active practice I have made arrangements with leading druggists to dispense this wonderful prescription at a moderate price, on the money back if dissatisfied plan.

Beware of kidney disease—thousands die of it every year who ought to be enjoying the blessings of life and health. Watch the symptoms. If you have specks floating before the eyes, puffy eyes, clammy feet or moist palms, backache or sideache, you ought to get a bottle of Dr. Carey's famous prescription No. 777 right away. It has wonderfully benefited tens of thousands of cases of kidney and bladder troubles and is the medicine you can always depend upon. Results are guaranteed.

NOTE—Dr. Daniel G. Carey was a practicing physician for many years and his great Prescription No. 777 added thousands of sufferers from kidney and bladder troubles. Hereafter you can always get this effective prescription in both liquid and tablet form at Public Drug & Book Co., and all reliable pharmacists the country over.—Adv.

W HEN colds are going the rounds and la grippe and pneumonia are prevalent, you must exercise precaution. You can't escape exposure. But you can strengthen your resistance by taking Hill's Cascara Quinine Tablets regularly. Colds spread in the sneezing crowds that pack cars, streets, shops and theaters. Play safe and keep fit. Take Hill's before and after exposure. At All Druggists—30 cents
